

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

In this chapter, the researcher draws a conclusion of the analysis of the data. Thus, she has solved the problems that she has formulated earlier in the statement of the problem.

For this study, the researcher got the data from Barack Obama's Speech in Indonesia, which is broadcast by YouTube and happen in University of Indonesia, Jakarta, Indonesia, November 2011. Through qualitative method of research, the researcher classified and analyzed the data to know the speech style that is happen in that speech. In addition, the researcher would like to know the most frequent speech style occurring in that speech.

Based on the analysis, the researcher did not find intimate style in this research. Intimate style is not found in this speech because it is only suitable to use between a very close people. Intimate style is not suitable to use in this speech because the speaker and the audience do not have very close relationship.

The researcher found four types of speech styles from the five styles occurring in Barack Obama's Speech in Indonesia. They are frozen, formal, consultative and casual style. Among these four types of speech styles, frozen style is the most frequent speech style used by Barack Obama because the situation are very formal. This style can also create a serious situation because the speech is means for political purpose. And the relationship between the speaker and the audience is the president as political prominent figure and citizens. Formal style are used in this situation because this was a formal situation. Consultative style is used in this speech because the speaker and the hearer consist of different social background and the speaker tried to break the cold situation in order to make it enjoyable. Casual style is the less speech style occurred in this speech. The speaker sometimes used casual style in order to produce informal situation although the speech is formal one. They limited using this style because this style needs more non standard vocabularies that make the situation entertaining.

Finally, the researcher hopes that this research can be beneficial and give additional knowledge about speech style. The researcher invites further linguistic students to conduct an investigation on the speech style variation since this study only investigates speech style of one person. In addition, the researcher hopes that this study can be use as a reference for further researcher who may be interested in similar topic.
