

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents two sections. The first chapter is the conclusion. The last section is the suggestion. The conclusion is about the summary of what has been analyzed in chapter four. The conclusion contains two sides, they are: Lennie's fetishism and the background of Lennie's fetishism.

5.1 Conclusion

The meaning of fetishism as seen from the psychology includes one of the abnormal sexual where the satisfaction of getting sexual is associated by seeing, touching, and kissing the inanimate object. The fetishist considers that the object fetishism is the symbol of sexuality. Fetishist will love it so much and worship it. Sometimes, to get the object fetishism the fetishist will do everything includes doing the robbing.

The main objectives of this study are two find out the Lennie's fetishism as portrayed in Of Mice and Men. The data are all the paragraphs which are found in the novel. The theory is used to analysis this thesis is sex and sexual concept, psychosexual, and the abnormal sexuality.

The first statement of the problem is how the fetishism depicted on Lennie depicted in Of Mice and Men. Based on the statement problem can be answered by the writer. In this case, there is an abnormal psychology on Lennie because his behavior indicates the habitual action which seldom happens in every person or the deviation from the usual in the society where the one live. Lennie's behavior indicates that he has the abnormal sexuality. Because his libido often arises by the strength way and it has a risk to other people. Lennie's abnormal sexuality is a fetishism where he obsesses and loves too much with the inanimate object. Lennie likes to touch and see soft thing those are rabbit, mouse, dress, puppy, and hair. It can be concluded that Lennie has the abnormal partner abnormal where the normal doing sexual is heterosexual which is done by the male and female. But, Lennie has the arousal sexual with his fetish object. Lennie's sexual behavior often brings his fetish object in a risk. Lennie kills the mouse when he pets it with his finger by the reason that the mouse bites his finger so, Lennie pinches its head. That reason is also happened when Lennie kills the puppy.

For the last statement of the problem is the background of Lennie's fetishism in Of Mice and Men seen from his personality. Based on the second statement of the problem it can be answered by the writer. The personality structure according to Freud consists of 3 sides those are Id, ego, and superego. Lennie's id contains of the instinct to get his need. When his id appears Lennie will do everything to fulfill the need of his id because Id has the pleasure concept so, the id will not allow everything or everyone to disturb his pleasure. Because the id just connects with the subjective world, Id needs ego's rule to help id to connect what id's need with the reality. Lennie's ego works from the id and superego's instruction. Superego contents of the sociology aspect in the personality portrayed the norm in the society where Lennielives. So, those 3 points of Personality structure has the influence among one and other. Those have the big influence to someone's personality.

5.2 Suggestion

This study may be regarded as a contribution to reader especially to literature class. The writer also recommends that Of Mice and Men to be used as the data of the other thesis because this novel is kind of good novel which have good value, there are any studies which can be discussed. This thesis only concern on fetishism. The writer suggested that other writer can investigate some other aspects of the novel such as Violence or the American dream which are almost never be analyzed.
