The screenshot shows a ProQuest search interface. The search query is "(caries in children) AND knowledge OR habit AND (rate of caries incidence)". The results are filtered to show 454 items. The first result is a journal article titled "Early Childhood Caries: Determining the Risk Factors And Assessing the Prevention Strategies For Nursing Intervention" from the journal "Pediatric Nursing; Pitman". The article is from Volume 37, Issue 1, published in January/February 2011, pages 9-15. The abstract mentions that in Uganda, the highest rate of caries was found in children with the longest lesions, missing (due to caries), or filled teeth in children under 72 months. Caries is the most common communicable disease of childhood, affecting 41% of children.

Filters applied: Jurnal Akademik, 10 Tahun Terakhir, Bahasa Inggris. The results are sorted by Relevansi. The interface also shows a search bar, navigation options, and a list of search results with options to view abstracts or full texts.
