

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this chapter, it will conclude everything that discussed and it will give some suggestion to the English teachers who want to use dialogues in English tense teaching learning activities.

5.1 Conclusion

Tense is the main element in English, which is still important to be taught nowadays. Without tense there are might be miscommunication. In addition the language- especially English-will be acceptable if the tense is correct. Students sometimes feel difficult and bored in learning tense. To solve the problem there is an alternative technique of teaching tense, through dialogue.

Based on the description on chapter IV, it can be conclude that teaching tenses through dialogues, make the tense more interesting for the students in English teaching learning. But the teacher must be able to choose dialogues which acceptable by the students, and suitable with the students knowledge.

5.2 Suggestions

This study has proven that the use of dialogues in teaching English tenses makes the SMK students learn tenses easier. Then it is suggested that an English teacher of SMK should be creative in selecting interest methods in English teaching learning process. In addition the dialogues can be used as an alternative media for teaching English tenses. For the students, they should always exercise to apply tense in communicative dialogues. Therefore they can communicate in English acceptable
