

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Grammar is the main capital and element in the language learning that still exists. Important to teach today. Without grammar, there may be miscommunication and difficulty in learning the language. In addition, the language will be acceptable if the grammar is correct.

Students sometimes find it difficult and tired to learn grammar. To overcome that problem, there is an alternative technique of teaching grammar English through the media. Based on the theoretical framework of the media for teaching, this medium an activity with rules, goals and elements of fun, and almost everyone will do it. Agree if learning can be fun, then students will learn better. It creates fun and enjoys but in an atmosphere of discipline. Media is a teaching device; This is a good tool for practicing the points structure. Media can also be a vehicle Teaching language - learning.

Based on the calculation of test results in experimental class there is a significant in test results. In the experimental class there is an increase in learning outcomes by using Hello English application, as well as on the results of eta square calculation is 0.05 which results can already be said at moderate level or Hello English application is effective and can be used in the process of language teaching.

There are four support criteria stating that Hello English Application is effective for teaching grammar. The first criterion is the result of calculation from the T-Test which will state H_0 and H_1 to find out whether this media is effective or not. The second criterion is the standard of assessment existing in schools that can be one of the criteria that support this media effectively or not. Based on post test result after treatment done almost all students in the experimental class experienced an increase in 25 students who can meet the existing value at the school on the final value that there is a significant from the results on the post test which was given after treatment.

The third criterion is the observation checklist for teachers and students. Observation checklist for teachers aims to observe how teachers do the learning process in the classroom whether in accordance with the lesson plan or not. While the observation checklist for students aims to observe the attitudes and activities of students in the learning process provided by teachers. If the results of each observation checklist of teachers and students more than 70% then can support the media used in this lesson effective.

The fourth criteria of hypothesis is students response with hello English application media that can be used in the learning process, if the result of students response obtained from questionnaire that has been given more then 70% agree or responding positively about the media of this application has been concluded that hello English application can be an alternative media in learning process of English especially grammar. Based on student's responses, the students were very interesting about the material using Hello English Application. Some students stated that Hello English Application can improve their knowledge about English especially grammar of simple present tense. Then Hello English application was effective as alternative media for teaching grammar especially simple present tense.

5.2 Suggestion

This study proves that the use of alternative media in grammar language teaching shows good results. Then, recommended;

1. English teachers in junior high school should be creative at choosing interesting methods and media in teaching and learning. In addition, the game can be used as an alternative tool or teaching media grammar English. In fact, the media can improve the components of grammar English, and mastery of students in the game structure.

2. For students, they should always do the exercises using grammar to make the text communicative.

3. For schools, they are expected to provide the media needed to teach English, especially for those concerned with the development of learning.

4. For authors, they should include the game in their English grammar book, so that students can use grammar to communicate and the language used is acceptable.