

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

This Chapter presents the conclusion from the result of analysis in the previous chapter. This part of thesis shows the conclusion of the answers to the problems of the study; Napoleon's internal conflicts, Napoleon external conflict, the resolution of the conflict.

5.1 Napoleon's Internal Conflict

One of the main character conflict is Napoleon, one of the younger pigs beside Snowball and Squealer. It happen when the rebellion is done, they can reach. After all runs as desired of Old Major. He dislike anything Snowball doing without everybody know about that, Napoleon takes the some puppies from their mother to training as guardian. So, they will be protect Napoleon in his activities. Furthermore, Napoleon want to control all the animal farm.

5.2 Napoleon's External Conflict

From the explanation before, beside internal conflict. It arise from outside. Then, it happens when the rebellion is done, Napoleon and Snowball never has the agreement in Sunday meeting. Furthermore, Napoleon tries to eliminate and he success to expulse Snowball. Beside that, the conflict comes from nature, one by one the animal dying and disease. So, they try to endure their life with fighting the other, killing the babies when the animal have a baby.

5.3 The Way How Napoleon Solves The Conflict

Every story have a resolution, included this story in this novella. Resolution in animal farm is the main character's—Napoleon—appears when he tries to walk with two legs, wears the Mr. Jones' clothes which placed in his wardrobe. And then he drinks together with other farmers—Mr. Pilkington. Finally, he is changing the name of the farm like before, Manor Farm.