

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

In this chapter, the researcher gave the conclusion and explanation for the research. This chapter is also contains a suggestion for the future research.

5.1 Conclusion

The use of speech acts is very useful in understanding every utterances, including the language of love, which is a type of words of affirmation. Speech act, in an effort to express oneself, a person takes action through speech to produce meaning (Nofriana, Ratnadewi, and Wijaya 2014). Speech acts are divided into three types, namely locutionary, perlocutionary, and illocutionary acts. In "Redeeming Love" movie, the researchers found several utterances classified as illocutionary acts based on the function and the meaning. The utterances in this movie have different meanings which can be categorized based on the types of illocutionary act, i.e representative/assertive, directive, commissive, declarative, and expressive used the women or men main characters in express love language of words of affirmation.

With the title "Redeeming Love", this movie tells the sincere struggle of a man who works as a farmer who loves sex workers. Therefore, in expressing the language of love, the male actor mostly expresses the language of love, words of affirmation to the opposite sex. Meanwhile, the female character expresses her love language at certain times.

It can be concluded that in speaking, gender is very influential. Men more often express uncertainty and use reinforcement sentences, whereas in speaking women are active and consistent speakers. Gender inequality refers to the obvious or hidden disparity between individuals due to gender, men are often portrayed as active, aggressive and sexually aggressive persons while women are portrayed as passive, pretty and incompetent beings (Yunianti 2016). These two things are different because men tend to use their minds when speaking, while women use their hearts more. When using reinforcement sentences when speaking, men feel that these reinforcement sentences can be proof of seriousness, even though evidence of seriousness is not only in reinforcement sentences but also actions. The same thing also happens when expressing the language of love, the type of words of affirmation. Some tips by Chapman for using the language of love the type of words of affirmation, are very important to use when expressing show seriousness the language of love, because some people, especially people who have this type of love language, are often seen as mere seduction by the opposite sex.

In this movie, love language words of affirmation are also proven by effort and action. The actions and efforts that Michael made towards Angel were very clear, from the moment they first met until they were married. From initially just asking for a name, it continued with the next meeting with an attempt to ask Angel to leave where he worked and give Angel the best life with him (Michael), an invitation to get married, and promising a colorful life, and so on.

Thus, it can be concluded that the use of love language types words of affirmation can be trusted and is not just mere seduction if the speaker expresses effort and action to prove the words of affirmation spoken. Apart from not being considered mere seduction, the effort and actions taken are not done once or twice, you need to do it several times because love requires effort, and one of those efforts occurs when using the love language type words of affirmation.

Therefore, the researcher hopes that this research can be useful for people who have a love language a type of words of affirmation in expressing their love language so that they look serious and not be seen as seduction. In addition, in language learning, linguistics helps understand how people communicate and determine meaning (semantic), how to do things with words (pragmatic), or how language relates to social factors (sociolinguistic), psychological aspects (psycholinguistic), or discourse analysis. By studying the language, we'll develop critical awareness and acquire communication and analytical skills.

5.2 Suggestion

After conducting this research, the researcher would like to give suggestion for further researchers, as follow:

1. The next researchers not only used one movie as the object used as data. It's better if the next researcher conducts an analysis of two films for the accuracy of the love language types of affirmations.
2. If further research examines speech act types perlocutionary act, the effects of love language such as behavior, feelings, beliefs that can be created from the words of affirmation spoken by the partner.
