

CHAPTER III RESEARCH METHOD

3.4 Research Design

This study uses qualitative techniques, using the library method and collecting written data obtained from various sources such as journal books and various sources on the internet, This research is descriptive qualitative because it explains the analysis and the results in words instead of numbers.(Sulistyorini, 2013). then explained and connected with the theory of friendship according to James O Grunebaum's theory to find out values friendship through postcolonialism contained in The Green Book written by Frank Anthony Vallelonga.

3.5 Research Subject

The research is based on the script from the film and from sources on the internet to help with this research. the researcher uses the procedure to get the right data, limiting the research in the assumptions and characteristics of the qualitative approach, the researcher starts the research with one focus, contains detailed methods, the right approach in data collection, data analysis, and report writing.

3.6 The object of the research

The object of the research is on all of the main characters' conversations and actions that support idea of friendship. in the green book film written by Nick Vallelonga and Peter Farrelly as directors focusing on the friendship of tony lip and don shirley through a postcolonial perspective.

3.7 Data and sources of data

The data obtained is divided into two parts where the first is data obtained from film scripts and scenes that occur which describe and explain friendship and postcolonialism and the second is data obtained from various journals and articles that have the same discussion or object as which researchers are researching and helps the research.